

Accompagnement pour le montage de projets Innovative Training Network Recruit the best PhD student and enhance your research activity thanks to ITNs!

With budgets of EUR 3 to 4 million, ITN projects can fund up to 15 doctoral thesis. These prestigious grants are components of the Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions. They help you recruit the best PhD students at international level.

ITNs are based on a collaboration between academic (research centres, universities, etc.) and non-academic (companies, hospitals, museums, government agencies, etc.) organisations. They set up innovative doctoral training programmes, based on an ambitious research project.

This call for proposals is open to all scientific disciplines, from basic to applied research. It is divided into several topics:

- European Training Networks (ETN): "classic" calls, with many organisational possibilities
- European Industrial Doctorates (EID): collaborations between academic and non-academic sectors
- European Joint Doctorates (EJD): joint degrees between two or more European universities

The ITN 2020 call is currently open until 15 January (> Participant Portal). To assist your organisation in writing and submitting your ITN proposal, Euronovia has designed a special offer that includes:

Assistance in partner search and animation of consortia meetings during the proposal phase to increase the chance of success of your project

Assistance throughout the proposal process, from structuring the project to negotiating the consortium agreement, including administrative management of the proposal and online submission.

Definition of a training strategy for PhD students, tailored to the requirements of ITN calls and to the structure of your project.

Support in the definition and implementation of your communication and exploitation of results strategy: creation of media, identification of results, tips & advice...
